

Uday Kumar

Uday is an associate in the National Litigation group of Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP in Vancouver. His practice is focused on international / domestic arbitration, commercial litigation, and class action defence. Uday has worked at international law firms in major seats of arbitration including London (UK), Geneva (Switzerland) and Hong Kong. He has acted for businesses, individuals, and governmental bodies on complex disputes across sectors, before arbitral tribunals, and in the courts of United Kingdom and Hong Kong. Uday has experience of most of the major rules of arbitration including the ICC, LCIA, HKIAC, SCC, SIAC, ADRIC and UNCITRAL rules. Uday frequently speaks on panels regarding his dispute resolution practice and publishes on related topics. Uday studied law at the National Academy of Legal Studies and Research University in India, following which he was called to the bar in India, England & Wales, Hong Kong and, most recently, in British Columbia. As an internationally trained lawyer, Uday takes an active interest in coaching and mentoring foreign lawyers on their qualification journey in Canada.